Network. Learn. Solve.

The Massachusetts Health Data Consortium (MHDC) brings together the health community to advance the use of data and technology to meet regulatory requirements and business goals including sustainable improvements in equity, quality, cost, effectiveness, and patient experience within, and outside, the health system.

Being a part of the MHDC community provides a unique opportunity to network with health providers, health plans (payers), government agencies, associations, vendors, and other health professionals while remaining informed about the health IT landscape, learning about initiatives addressing important issues (that no organization can solve individually), and accessing collaborative opportunities to implement these solutions.
